Formal Complaint Process

Right to Complain

- An employee has the right to complain about a situation that they believe is Harassment/Bullying under this Policy.
- A complaint may be filed by the actual victim of alleged harassment/bullying; by a group of employees who may have been subjected to the same offensive treatment; by a co-worker who witnesses the incident(s); or by a third party complaining on behalf of the victim(s).

Reporting a Complaint

- A complaint should be reported as soon as possible after the action or behaviour being complained about occurred. Promptness in reporting a complaint protects the rights of both the person making the Complaint and the person complained against Respondent.
- While an Employee may choose to make a verbal complaint, it is in the best interest of all concerned to have a written summary of allegations. A letter of complaint should contain a brief account of the offensive incident, when it occurred, the person(s) involved and the name(s) of any witnesses.
- The letter of complaint should be signed and dated by the complainant.
- A complaint under this Policy may be submitted to a Senior Leader, Supervisor, or Human Resources. If the complaint is submitted to a Senior Leader or Supervisor it should be referred directly to Human Resources within two (2) working days of receipt.

- Although an employee may file a formal complaint, Human Resources may determine that given the circumstances surrounding the complaint, the matter will be dealt with as an informal action. If Human Resources does not determine that the complaint will be dealt with informally, they shall assign one or more Investigators to investigate the complaint and report back with recommendations. Alternatively, Human Resources may choose to investigate the complaint internally.

Settlement / Remedy

- Depending on the circumstances, it is often possible to resolve a complaint after only a simple investigation and without the laying of blame. For example, a complaint regarding the circulation of offensive cartoons may be resolved simply by circulating a memo prohibiting the practice.
- In determining an appropriate settlement, the Investigator(s) and/or Manager, in consultation with the Human Resources Manager should endeavour as much as possible to reach a settlement that is satisfactory to both the complainant and the respondent.

Investigations

- As soon as reasonably practicable, the person assigned shall initiate the investigation by meeting with the complainant. - After the initial meeting with the Complainant, the Investigator will determine whether the complaint(s), if taken as true, meet the definition of bullying/harassment as defined in this Policy. In the event that all complaints are determined not to meet the definition of bullying/harassment, then the Investigator will conclude the investigation and provide a report describing the same. In the event that a portion of the complaint(s) do meet the definition, then only those portions of the complaint(s) will be investigated.
- At any point during the investigation, the Investigator may submit a report to the Human Resources department or to the Chief Administrative Officer making a recommendation to stop dealing with a complaint where:
 - the complaint is trivial, frivolous, vexatious or made in bad faith, or an abuse of process;
 - having regard to all the circumstances, further investigation of the matter is unnecessary; or
 - the complaint has been settled by the parties.
- To the extent possible, the Investigator shall ensure that the complaint is investigated promptly and fairly, in a discreet and confidential manner so as to minimize embarrassment to all parties, in accordance with the principles of natural justice.
- The Investigator has the authority, subject to applicable laws, to speak to anyone, examine any documents and enter any work locations that are relevant to the complaint.
- The Respondent to a complaint has the right to reply to the allegation and the right to be accompanied by a person of their choice in any meeting with an Investigator.
- In all circumstances, the Respondent must be provided with an opportunity to respond to the allegations, including additional allegations that arise in the course of the investigation.

Depending on the circumstances, the Investigator will determine how the allegations will be provided to the Respondent. Options include:

- providing allegations during the initial investigative interview, either orally or in writing;
 - providing a follow-up meeting to allow for an additional opportunity to respond to the concerns;
 - in some limited circumstances, where appropriate, and at the discretion of the Investigator, the respondent may be provided the allegations either orally or in writing, in advance of the initial meeting with the Investigator.
- Persons not named in the complaint who may have some personal knowledge about the incident may also be interviewed.
 - All employees and members of Council are expected to cooperate with the investigation process and participate when requested to do so by the investigator. No disciplinary action will be taken against an employee or Council member who does not provide a response during the investigation; however, adverse findings can be made against those individuals who refuse to explain their actions.
 - The investigation should be completed within 90 days from the date that the Complainant is notified that an investigation is required. Parties will be advised in writing prior to the end of the 90 day period if a delay is anticipated. Completion of investigations must not exceed 6 months unless there are extenuating circumstances. Any additional delays must be communicated in writing to the parties.
 - Depending upon the circumstances, the Supervisor, Manager, or Department Head in consultation with the Human Resources Manager may determine that it is appropriate to physically and/or operationally separate the employee and the alleged harasser until the investigation has been completed.

Findings and Recommendations

- Once the investigation is complete, the investigator will submit a confidential written report to the Human Resources manager. The investigator will endeavour to submit a written report within thirty (30) days from the receipt of the complaint. The report will summarize the investigator's findings and conclusions and will recommend corrective action if appropriate.
- A conclusion about whether a specific incident of workplace harassment/bullying did or did not occur should be based upon the information obtained in the investigation, and assessed on a balance of probabilities.
- The Investigator may make recommendations in their written report on any matter except discipline.
- The Complainant(s) and Respondent(s) will be promptly advised of the outcome of the investigation and provided with a summary of the findings by the investigator.
- Where a complaint involves a Member of Council or the Chief Administrative Officer, the report and recommendations (if any) will be provided on a confidential basis in a Closed Session of Council.

Discipline and Counselling

- Depending on the circumstances, if an employee is found to have engaged in harassment/bullying under this Policy, such conduct will be considered a form of employee misconduct.

- Consequences for policy violations may include but are not limited to: counselling, education and training, a verbal or written reprimand, suspension with or without pay, a transfer or termination of employment. In determining appropriate consequences, factors including, but not limited to, the following will be taken into account: the nature of the violation, the severity, whether the individual has previously violated this Policy and/or whether there is relevant discipline on file.
